

Lamb Weston Announces Leadership Changes to Accelerate Focus to Win Strategy and Drive Shareholder Value

February 4, 2026

Jan Craps Brings Global Experience to the Newly Created Executive Chair Role; James D. Gray Appointed Chief Financial Officer

EAGLE, Idaho--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 4, 2026-- Lamb Weston Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: LW) announced today two leadership appointments intended to accelerate growth and drive long-term shareholder value.

Jan Craps Appointed Executive Chair

The Lamb Weston board of directors has appointed Jan Craps executive chair, effective February 6, 2026. Jan brings deep international experience to the newly created role, including more than 20 years with Anheuser-Busch InBev, most recently as the CEO and Co-Chair of Budweiser Brewing Company APAC, and CEO APAC for Anheuser-Busch InBev. Jan has shaped emerging and complex markets globally, managed strategic integrations and transformations, and has led and grown multibillion dollar consumer businesses across Europe, Canada, Australia and Asia. Jan began his career at McKinsey & Company.

At Lamb Weston, Jan will help unlock the company's potential and performance, with a particular focus on board leadership, M&A, governance, oversight, international market execution, and the company's long-term strategy alongside Mike Smith, president, CEO, and board member, and the company's leadership team. With Jan's appointment, Bradley (Brad) Alford will transition from chairman of the board to lead independent director.

James D. Gray Appointed Chief Financial Officer

James (Jim) D. Gray will join Lamb Weston as chief financial officer (CFO), effective April 2, 2026, succeeding Bernadette Madarieta, who will serve in an interim advisory capacity to ensure continuity across all financial functions during a transition period.

Jim has spent the last 12 years with Ingredion, a leading global ingredients solutions company, where he served as executive vice president and CFO. Jim began his career at Bain & Company and held finance leadership roles with PepsiCo for more than a decade.

"Today's appointments of Jan and Jim will enhance ongoing efforts led by Mike and the management team to accelerate growth and improve execution and returns," said Bradley Alford, chairman of the Lamb Weston board. "I look forward to serving as lead independent director, providing independent oversight and ensuring strong corporate governance and accountability."

"I have a strong admiration for Lamb Weston as one of the premier foodservice companies in the world," said Jan Craps, Lamb Weston executive chairman. "I look forward to partnering with Mike to capitalize on the strong opportunity in front of us to drive shareholder returns in this attractive, growing category."

"The experience and vision Jan and Jim bring to Lamb Weston will be critically important as we execute our Focus to Win strategy. I look forward to working closely with them as we prioritize markets and channels, strengthen customer partnerships, achieve executional excellence, and set the pace for innovation," said Mike Smith, president and chief executive officer, Lamb Weston. "I would also like to thank Bernadette for her leadership as CFO the last five years and contributions to Lamb Weston since our spinoff nearly ten years ago. We wish her the very best."

Supplemental Incentive Awards

As part of the board's continued efforts to drive performance and increase alignment between shareholders and senior management, the board approved supplemental incentive awards of restricted stock units and stock options with exercise prices significantly higher than the current fair market value of Lamb Weston stock to certain executive officers, including Mr. Craps and Mr. Gray. Details on the program can be found in the company's Current Report on Form 8-K filed today with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Reiterates Fiscal Year 2026 Guidance

The company reiterates its most recent guidance included in its fiscal year 2026 second quarter earnings release on December 19, 2025. Lamb Weston will release third quarter earnings on April 1, 2026. Details will be available via press release and on the company's website.
